Sack Distributors Corp
34 Francis Ave

Dear Erika:

The employees of the Federal Aviation Administration at the NY TRACON located in Westbury New York, would like to extend our sincere appreciation for the outstanding support Sack Distributors Corp provided during the Hurricane Sandy aftermath that impacted the region throughout November 2012. As you know, Sandy left Long Island without power, heat, hot water, operating gas stations.

Sack professionally handled the logistics of all the fuel deliveries, drivers, and backup supply trucks throughout the period that Long Island FAA employees were unable to locate fuel to enable them to report to work. Sack ensured that fuel was available around the clock at the NY TRACON, NY ARTCC, NY Regional Office as well a number of airports. Sack provided drivers that didn't just show up with fuel, they manned the pumps alongside FAA personnel, greeted employees, and endured the harsh weather and living conditions in the area at the time. Without having to worry about where employees would get their next fill up, the FAA was able to continue air traffic operations, and get our airports back and running in record time.

Our sincere thanks for a job well done.

Regards,
